

Smile Factory Comes To Midway

Wave 2 Mar 1988

Ten of Midway's best spellers will compete this week to determine who will represent the school at the district competition March 18 at the Middle School.

Representing Mr. John Besendorfer's Fourth Grade will be Jacob Brown and Emily Burton. Representing Mr. Jeff Besendorfer's Fourth Grade will be Bryant Whiting and David Sargeant. Representing Miss Fish's Fourth Grade will be Adrienne Evans and Sara Collings. Representing Miss Fish's Fifth Grade will be Emily Proctor and Ashley Maak. Representing Mr. Hatch's Fifth Grade will be

Ann Marie Renoir and Ann Allison.

They have all been competing in their own classes to narrow the competition down to just two entries from each class.

Several of our local dentists and nurses volunteered to carry out the program. A special thanks goes to them.

Dr. Glade Tregaskis provided a short presentation with slides on dental health care. Dr. Larry Duke and Dr. Craig Ford provided free dental check-ups for all those students who requested them. They were assisted by Sue Barker and Maren Durtschi, our Wasatch County public health nurses, and by State Dental Hygienists Sheri Judd and Peggy Bowman.

In case you haven't noticed, we've got some beautiful smiles at school.

Next Thursday the PTA will again sponsor a "Cottage Meeting" for parents and teachers to come and work together on brainstorming for ideas and ways to make our school even better. "If you care -- come share -- your ideas, and your talents."

TAKE LeAnn Brandner to the Top

by Lou Jackson

For general scholarship, LeAnn Brandner steps forth to represent Wasatch High School in the Sterling Scholarship competition. LeAnn is the daughter of Tom and Betty Brandner of Heber City.

Her pleasant disposition doesn't necessarily come from having an older and a younger brother, but from her honest and straight forward philosophy -- "You must be happy to make life worthwhile."

She says, "I'm happy and never depressed." It's keeping busy and accepting new challenges that keeps her in tune. Her father's work has required the family to move often, but now he is settled and LeAnn has made lasting friends among her high school associates. She meets a fair share of people when she works as counter help and condo housekeeper on weekends.

Summers find her working or skiing at Lake Powell. Trips to North Dakota, where she was born, lets her associate with relatives who still live there. Between second and seventh grade, she claims she has attended 12 different schools, so she knows the USA.

LeAnn's favorite subjects in school are accounting, business classes -- "I like all the classes," she says. Presently, she takes Free Enterprise, AP English, yearbook, chemistry, accounting 3-4, and calculus. A GPA of 3.927 declares she masters her subjects and liking classes makes school a pleasure and successful.

"I want to go to college (USU or U. of U.) and major in an area of business and management."

Other goals reached have been yearbook staff editor, Honor Society membership, Rotarian Top 10 Award, Second place in Academic Decathlon Honors Interview, FBLA membership, A-1 in Region Band for a flute trio, Second in Region 1986 tennis team, and Third in Region State Math Contest, 1987. Other school activities and successes form an equally long list of accomplishments.

LeAnn also teaches pre-schoolers in her faith and does volunteer work for her church. Other leadership is also exercised at school on the student council.
